

A Little Bit About Me

During my free time, I enjoy reading fantasy books, listening to music and watching anime. I also love spending time with my family, walking my dogs at the park and doing Yoga.

A Few of My Favorite Things

Season | Fall

Food | Sushi

Book | A Psalm for the Wild-Built

Place | Anywhere sunny!

Meet Teacher Twig

Hi! I'm Teacher Twig

Growing up in a close-knit community in the Highlands neighborhood of Colorado with a mom who nannied, I've been involved in childcare since I was eleven. One of my earliest memories is rocking a crying baby while he crowned his first tooth for hours until he fell asleep: the sense of accomplishment and joy I felt then called me to work in childcare. I feel so lucky to be a part of young children's growth as they explore the world and to share the excitement of their development with their families. I think as educators, we have just as much to learn from children's curious and excited approach to the world as they learn from us. My younger cousin is autistic and being a part of his life has taught me so much about myself and the world and given me such appreciation for all the kids I interact with.

Before joining the wonderful Summit team, I worked at a Montessori preschool and then at the Children's Museum of Denver, always learning new things children and education. I'm so excited to be part of such a warm and welcoming community and to have the opportunity to facilitate children's learning every day again. I'm very grateful to have the opportunity to integrate the playful and self-led aspects of my previous job experiences in the classroom and to participate in a culture of growth and development with the teachers and families at Summit.

Sincerely,
Teacher Twig